

Product Information and Traditional & Alternative Uses

Medical research has shown Sandalwood responsible for preventing viral induced tumors and the elimination of Human Papillomavirus (HPV), DNA and RNA viruses, as well as skin and cervix cancers. Likewise, it's found to prevent dryness, rashes, flakiness, and common skin diseases because of the disinfectant and antibacterial action on the skin as it also has an emollient action which soothes and fades scars and spots on the skin while keeping it fresh and cool and tightened with its mild astringent effect.
